Brief Description of Research Project	The project intends to create a centralized inventory of available workforce development resources applicable to the Southeastern Transportation Industry. This project will define identified challenges facing the industry at-large and those specific to the Southeastern region. It will also define and outline a clear framework for transportation workforce development practice to organize the resources included in the inventory. The proposed inventory will be accomplished through an exhaustive review, coordination with other industry stakeholders, and discussions with industry providers. This effort builds off the findings and suggestions of the STRIDE Project C4 ( Transportation Workforce Development for State DOTs to Address Congestion for the Southeast Region ).
